

Claims

[c1] What is claimed is:

1.A dating client management system comprising:
having a database;
having said database contain data about a dating client;
having said database contain gaming history about the dating client;
allowing said data to be accessed by users of the system.

[c2] [c2]

A dating client management system of claim 1 further comprising having said system being accessible by a user through the Internet.

[c3] [c3]

A dating client management system of claim 1 further comprising having said data being historic data of said gaming player.

[c4] [c4]

A dating client management system of claim 3 further comprising having said historic data being the gaming history of said dating client.

[c5] [c5]

A dating client management system of claim 1 further comprising having said data being the dating and gaming preferences of said dating client.

[c6] [c6]

A dating client management system of claim 1 further comprising having said system connecting to other database systems.

[c7] [c7]

A dating client management system of claim 6 further comprising having said other database systems being used to form a trip to a casino destination or entertainment venue near a casino.

[c8] [c8]

A dating client management system of claim 1 further comprising having said system contacting said dating client.

[c9] [c9]

A dating client management system of claim 8 further comprising where said gaming player is contacted based on a selection criteria.

[c10] [c10]

A dating client management system of claim 9 further comprising where said selection criteria is based on the information contained in said database.

[c11] [c11]

A dating client management system of claim 1 further comprising where said system compares said data against a rule set.

[c12] [c12]

A dating client management system of claim 11 further comprising where said system will notify if a rule set is broken.

[c13] [c13]

A dating client management system of claim 1 further comprising where said system has a communication means for players and users to contact each other.

[c14] [c14]

A dating client management system of claim 8 further comprising where said notification is an E-mail.

[c15] [c15]

A dating client management system of claim 8 further comprising where said notification is mailing.

[c16] [c16]

A dating client management system of claim 8 further comprising where said notification is telephonic.

[c17] [c17]

A dating client management system of claim 6 further comprising where said other databases are venue reservation databases.

[c18] [c18]

A dating client management system of claim 1 further comprising having said users searching based on qualifying criteria.

[c19] [c19]

A dating client management system of claim 8 further comprising having said users searching for a plurality of dating clients based on their dating attributes, likes and dislikes, next planned trip, favorite destinations, and other key items to interested persons.

[c20] [c20]

A dating client management system of claim 8 further comprising having said users searching for a plurality of dating clients based on their gaming history.

[c21] A dating client management system of claim 13 further comprising having said users with the ability to hide or unhide certain personal attributes about their past-play, past-trips, or personal data from strangers until they feel comfortable exposing this information.

- [c22] A dating client management system of claim 13 further comprising having said users uploading and adding to their profile in the database a current picture of themselves for the purpose of showing other users or service personnel at venues.
- [c23] A dating client management system of claim 13 further comprising having said users inviting other users to join groups to attend a venue together (group date) .
- [c24] A dating client management system of claim 13 further comprising having venues contacting said dating client users with offers for their venues in order to maximize profit and venue turnout.